Rufus King, Wm. H. Watson & John. S. Fillmore PROPRIETORS.

UNDER THE NAME AND FIRM OF

RUFUS KING & CO.

FROM OUR NEW YORK CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Monday, May 10.

The waters of the political fountains are beginning to be considerably agitated, and Conventions in preparation, or in function, for the designation of Candidates for the Presidency, are the general talk. Our neighbors of New Jersey last week made their democratic demonstration, and laughable enough it was—for Commodore STOCKTON had his hand in the business, and turned it all into a joke—for what other than a joke can it be conceived that the Commodore should be presented seriously as a candidate for the Presidency! Yet a very pretty quarrel was got up in that Convention between the Stockton men and the Cass men, and although the latter carried a resolution expressing their preference as a first choice for Cass, the former insisted upon another expression of confidence in the gallant Commodore, and, as is believed, about one-half of the delegates chosen to the Baltimore Convention are for Stockton, out and out. Meanwhile the Whigs think only of SCOTT, and although efforts are not wanting in New Jersey, any more than in this State, on the part of Office-holders and the possessors of Executive favor, to give a chance to Mr. Fillmore, the chance is certainly not worth what it costs, in self-respect and in the violation of what heretofore has been deemed almost a Whig principle, the non-intervention of federal office-holders in elections. It is here, however, in this city, where the federal patronage is so large, that we are witnessing under President Fillmore's Administration what filled the Whig party with such just indignation during John Tyler's ill-starred Administration—the most unblushing use of the federal patronage to debauch the public opinion into a support for the Presidency, of the chief distributor and controller of that patronage, the actual President. I do not know certainly that Mr. Fillmore approves of this corrupting abuse, but I do know that he does not check it, as a word from him might do, and that it is notorious. The Collector of this port, for instance, organizes public meetings, cross-examines Committee-men, and is the whole life and soul of the Fillmore movement in this city, which is as artificial as many other forced products and will be as short-lived. There can be nothing done for Mr. Fillmore in this State, tho' all the Office-holders should spend a year's salary each, and a year's time, which ought to be given to the public, in pushing his claims. The Rural Districts have emphatically, as far as heard from, put their Veto upon his re-election, and it is almost an even chance that the cities will do likewise—and then the sacrifice of a principle will have been made in vain, and our adversaries will be at liberty to retort upon us the reproaches heretofore lavished by the Whigs upon them, that Federal patronage was freely resorted to, in order to control popular elections.

Happily the attempt will fail—but the disgrace of the attempt will not fail. We are to have the finale this evening, of a series of Fillmore meetings, by a general meeting to be held at the Chinese Museum, which never did exhibit funnier specimens of monstrous contradictions than this meeting will probably gather together, of men calling themselves free and independent republicans, yet actually assembled at the bidding of the officials who hold the purse strings of their subsistence. These, together with dependents upon cotton lords for the sale of their wares and merchandize, and who, in weighing probable profits from subserviency to southern dictation and slave rule, against the spirit of freedom and the rights of humanity, find the latter feather-light; these, and the hundreds whom curiosity will prompt to attend the meeting, are to be addressed—by whom, think you? known men of Northern reputation and settled principles? Oh! no!—but by discontented, recalcitrating Whigs from slave holding States! men who are willing to put aside all the great and important National principles which constitute the creed of the Whig party, and substitute for them the one ground of allegiance to the Compromise measures, as a "finality"—as incapable alike of modification or repeal, unless, indeed, the task-masters should demand some more stringent provision for the advancement of Slavery: Even, on their own ground, I suspect these unhappy Whigs dare not be consistent, and thorough-paced—and I only wish some honest doubter would propose to Mr. Gentry or Mr. Marshall, when in mid career of eloquent protestation of fidelity to the "finality" of the Compromise—whether (the admission of California as a free State being part of that Compromise) they, or either of them, would sustain a proposal for the division of that State, and the admission of slavery into the Southern portion. I wish this question could be asked in public meeting, and frankly met. If the representatives of slavery should equivocate—all would know what to think. If they should, as is more likely, say they would go for such a division of California for such an object, then their meaning in inculcating fidelity to the compromise would be plainly revealed, as a one-sided fidelity, meant to bind and to blind the North, while the South is free to abide or not by one of the main stipulations, favoring the North. If they should, on the contrary, answer bravely No!—and declare that in claiming for the Compromise authority as a finality, they included all the measures, and California as a free state among them, then respect for their sincerity and consistency would and should strengthen very materially their appeals.

But that question will not be asked, and these will only be the farce of deliberation by a meeting, called to order, acting to order, and of which before hand all the proceedings, resolutions and speeches will have been fashioned to order, and on a pattern.

The game is not worth the candle, and so the sequel will show.

The Working Bees at Washington.

The proceedings in that laborious and never tiring body, the House of Representatives, on the 10th instant, are thus briefly summed up in the Telegraphic reports to the New York papers:—

The House, on motion of Mr. Johnson, (Ark.) took up the resolution heretofore introduced by him, proposing a brief Summer recess. The Assistant Clerk read it in substance, that for the purpose of having the Hall rectified and cleaned, the House should adjourn from Tuesday, the first of June, until Friday the 4th day of May. As the Clerk make a mistake in reading May instead of June, the House was consoled with laughter.

Mr Houston called the Clerk to order for reading nonsense. [Laughter.]

The Clerk, after the merriment had subsided, again read the resolution—this time correctly.—The House then agreed to an amendment of Mr. Gaylord, that the recess to be from the 13th to the 17th day of May—Ayes 69, Noes 62. The question was now stated on the resolution as amended.

Mr Jones, of Tenn., moved to reconsider the vote; and after some considerable confusion, without getting a vote, the House adjourned.

The Clerk was properly "called to order." Indeed, we are not sure that he ought not to have been turned out of the House neck and heels, on the instant. Think of the indignity of "reading nonsense" to such a grave, dignified, deliberative body! Think of disturbing the proprieties of legislation and the decorum of debate by "convulsing the house with laughter!" Think of getting up so much "noise and confusion" that the House, unable to get a vote, had to adjourn in sheer despair! We put it to the Country whether a Clerk who can heedlessly or designedly do such things is fit for the company he keeps, the busy bees of Congress?

CURIOUS.—To see Mr. Gentry, a seceder from the Whig Congressional Caucus, lecturing old fashioned New York Whigs upon points of duty.

And curious, too, that this same gentleman, who, with all his Southern friends insisted upon our taking Gen'l. Taylor without any pledges—now insisting that Gen'l. Scott shall pledge himself.

NEW YORK DELEGATION TO BALTIMORE.—We have the actual, or reported results of the selection of Delegates to the Whig National Convention in the following Congressional Districts of New York.

No. Counties.	Result.
1—Kings, Queens, Richmond &c,	Disputed

Aggregate, Scott 21, Fillmore 5, Webster.—To hear from 6, disputed 1. Of the remaining Districts four, we think, will choose Delegates favorable to the nomination of Gen. SCOTT.

☞ The Milwaukee Wisconsin which has been claimed as a defender of Gov. Farwell in his course upon the River Improvement, speaks thus emphatically:

"It seems to us that the Governor has acted in this matter in contempt of the law of the land."—Green Bay Advocate.

The Wisconsin of April 17th also spoke thus emphatically:

The passage of the Fox and Wisconsin River Improvement bill in spite of the Governor's veto will only cost the state some million and a half of dollars, but political scheming always costs money and the commercial interests have to suffer where they stand in the way of office seekers. Governor Farwell's course in the matter must meet with the approbation of disinterested persons almost to a man.

Now which of these two "spanks" does our Green Bay contemporary consider as most "emphatic"?

☞ Lucas Seaver, Esq., Treasurer of the City, succeeded in negotiating the bonds of the city in New York at 1 per cent. premium. A striking comment on the financiering of the Governor, who negotiated the bonds of the State at 2 per cent. discount.—Watertown Register.

Honest way that, of stating the question. The State bonds bore eight per cent. interest and the City ten per cent.—a difference that the Register, following the lead of the Commercial, is careful to suppress. The State loan at 98 was a better bargain than the City loan at 101. Of course, this fact appears from the simple statement of the difference in the rates of interest, and therefore these honest party organs withhold that material point from their readers!

THE IMPROVEMENT.—The Green Bay Advocate says:

We learn that the Board of Public Works will meet at Oshkosh this week, to organize and transact business, of immediate importance, and that the Governor will probably be there at that time, on a visit along the lower Fox. This is a rumor, which we do not regard as at all authentic, but hope it may prove to be true.

We hope so too. A personal acquaintance with the work on the part of the Governor, and, on the part of our excited Northern friends, a personal acquaintance with Gov. Farwell, will do neither any harm. Brig Gen. White and Adj. Gen. Utley, however, ought to attend as a bodyguard to keep the Governor from bodily harm from the firecaters.

THE ACCIDENT TO MR. WEBSTER.—Mr. FLETCHER WEBSTER, in a letter dated at Boston on the 10th instant, thus speaks of the accident to his father by the upsetting of his carriage:

He saved his head at the expense of his hands and arms, spraining them severely, and only grazing the skin on his forehead. He had not received any internal injury or lost his senses for a moment, but as soon as he recovered himself he brushed the dust off his clothes and walked into a house near by. He can get very well, and the worst consequences we apprehend are a confinement of a day or two and walking for some ten days about Marshfield with his arm in a sling.

SENSIBLE CONCLUSION.—The Fox River Times, in an article on the subject of the Improvement, thus briefly and sensibly disposes of the Green Bay notion that Milwaukee is hostile to the great work:

In regard to the people of Milwaukee being opposed to the Improvement of our rivers, we look upon it as an exploded rumor—generally speaking they are friendly. Any projects of internal improvement, or any aids to agriculture, manufactures, or commerce, or any scheme that has the least tendency to increase the business facilities and wealth of our state and cause the settlement of the vacant lands, creates an interest which cannot fail to be felt by the people of the State at large.

GEN. SCOTT AND SLAVERY.—A telegraphic rumor is afloat that Gen. Scott has written a letter declaring himself opposed to slavery, and hoping for its final extinction, but in opposition to any action on the subject by the federal government. We do not believe it, for the General would not write any kind of a letter at this interesting juncture, and especially one of the kind indicated.—Commercial of yesterday.

If Gen. SCOTT has written any letter at all on this topic, we venture to say that it is precisely "of the kind indicated." Such we know to be his opinions on the slavery question, entertained from early manhood and long since openly avowed.

☞ The Steamer Harrison came in from Chicago last Saturday, bringing a good load of freight and passengers. She is commanded by Capt. Kelsey, one of the oldest and most popular lake Captains, who is desirous of keeping her on this line throughout the season. She left next day with about sixty passengers.—Green Bay Advocate.

The Harrison is a good boat and her Captain a right clever fellow. We hope to see him liberally patronized by our Lake ports during the current season of navigation.

ASTONISHING!—We received by last evening's mail Boston papers of the 7th, Oswego of the 8th Detroit papers of the 11th, and the latest New York dates were the 12th.

How can the railroads bring papers here from Boston in 11 days? We pause for a reply. N. B. Travellers come over the same route from New York in 3 days.

MUCH OBLIGED.—The Commercial of yesterday quotes, "for the Sentinel's benefit," a paragraph from the Janesville Gazette, doing justice to the Governor's motives in his course on the Improvement question. The best return we can make for this civility is to suggest that the Commercial copy for its own and its readers "benefit" the article from the Sentinel to which the Gazette's paragraph refers.

THE HOMESTEAD BILL.—This important bill passed the House of Representatives in Congress on the 12th, by a vote of nearly two to one. We shall publish the vote to-morrow, with an abstract of the bill.

GEN'L SCOTT'S LETTER.—The letter which some Telegram-my wiscacre reports that Gen'l. Scott has written to a Mr. Atkinson about Slavery recently, turns out to be an old letter, written in 1843—and a very good letter, too. We will publish it to-morrow.

☞ Talking about stealing lumber yesterday, we used the name Ft. Atkinson where we should have used Lake Mills.

There the common was which wanted fencing, and the people of that ilk it was whom their representative described so graphically.

PORTLAND AND MADISON PLANK ROAD.—By this road, the distance between this city and Madison will be shortened to 79 miles. The grades are very favorable.

WISCONSIN RIVER NAVIGATION.—The steamer Enterprise, Capt. SCOTT, arrived at Fort Winnebago from Galena, on the 10th instant, and left on her return trip, the same day.

☞ The bronze statue of Washington for Union Square is ordered by 52 New Yorkers, each subscribing $500.

Mr. LORD'S LECTURE.

Mr. Lord's first lecture at Gardiner's Hall on Monday evening—subject, "Gustavus Adolphus and the Thirty Years' War"—was attended by a large and intelligent audience. His style is eminently attractive. He deals not much in incident, but as he has occasion to use historical facts, presents them before the mind in vivid pictures, which are impressed upon the mind, and borne in the memory, while he discusses the principles which those facts illustrate, and analyzes the motives which have brought them into being.

He opened with recalling the fact that just before the entrance of Gustavus upon the scenes of life, a strange star appeared in the north, at first brilliant as the planet Jupiter—then changing to a crimson color, and then to an ashy paleness, and then suddenly disappearing, not again to appear to mortal sight. It was thought, in that day when men studied and regarded the signs of the heavens, to portend the rising in the north of a great champion of the Protestant faith and of religious liberty.

The lecturer proceeded to show what was the state of things in Europe, which should lead men to augur such an event. He carried his audience back to Bohemia, where the people had risen against Ferdinand II, of Austria, being no longer able to bear the load of religious and political oppression which he imposed upon them. Here occurred a brief episode upon the abstract question of the right or wrong of War; the lecturer maintaining eloquently the ground that to a people oppressed and overborne by despotism, there are no alternatives other than tame submission, or a struggle for life. He touched this point later in the lecture. Cardinal Richelieu, the able and astute intriguer on the side of despotism, for his services to which the Czar Peter afterwards bowed in adoration at his tomb, was appealed to and sided with Ferdinand, while various Protestant princes sided with the revolting Bohemians. Count Wallenstein's character and career were sketched with a master hand, and a parallel drawn between him and Thomas Wentworth, the English Earl of Strafford. Wallenstein offered to equip, at his own expense, a large army for the Austrian cause, his only reward to be the liberty of paying himself and his soldiers from the plundered homes of Bohemia. His offer was accepted, and forthwith commenced that terrible war which, as its first results, caused Denmark to sue for peace—drove the elector Ferdinand into exile, left Count Mansfeldt in his grave, and the Protestant cause in utter despair. On the other side, the Emperor Ferdinand was rejoicing over his triumphs, and already projecting the extermination of all ideas of religious liberty in the nations around him, and of subjugating the kingdoms to his own rule. But it was not so to be. There is a God! and Gustavus Adolphus entered the field, seemingly ordained by Him as the chosen champion of abused and oppressed humanity. The nations looked with surprise to see their help come from the far North. As they studied his early career and his character they found in him what had been seen in no other monarch or commander. He had drilled his soldiers by a new system of tactics, to be such as to be irresistible. There was a moral force about them which added incalculably to their physical power. Their endurance was wonderful. They were educated—schools were maintained in the army, and twice every day the rolling drum summoned them to prayer. They were, too, taught to respect private rights, and on no occasion were they allowed to plunder a conquered town.

The character of Gustavus as a man and a sovereign was sketched in lively colors, till the audience had the man himself before him in all the splendid virtues of his private life, his simplicity and disinterestedness. He was a Christian long before he went to war, and he maintained his character.

Here the lecturer digressed again to state and maintain his belief that the most exalted piety is consistent with the soldier's profession, and that instances have occurred, and may occur, where the absolute justice and necessity of a cause has been and may be maintained by war for right. He had no patience for that maudlin sentimentality which would cause the people to lose their reverence for the great leaders in the struggles for liberty and religion. The Gospel does enjoin peace and forgiveness, but not the yielding of right—it enjoins obedience, absolute, to the King of Kings, but not submission to the demands of Satan.

Gustavus, such as he was, and with such soldiers, entered upon his work; his object not the increase of his own power or glory, but as the agent of the Almighty, to protect humanity. One despairing cry came up to him from the German nations to save them from utter extermination.—He heard them, gathered his counsellors about him, committed the interests of the kingdom into the hands of his faithful Oxenstern, bade farewell to his people, and sailed for the scene of action, with barely 20,000 men; but they were of the best.—Here Mr. Lord referred to the much agitated question of "intervention." He said that there exist no such parallel circumstances in the state of things with us as to Hungary, and those of Sweden as to Germany. If, however, the time should ever come, when Russia, Austria, France and other European nations, after destroying all liberty at home, should combine together, avowedly, for the destruction of freedom in England, and in her extremity she should stretch forth her arms to this land for aid, there would be no soul so mean, and dastardly, and cowardly, and suicidal, as to refuse to recognize the appeal as just, and there would be a general uprising of the people from Maine to Florida. (The sentiment reached the hearts of the audience, as their demonstrations of applause testified.)

On the 24th June 1630, Gustavus landed on the Continent with his troops. Signs and wonders in the heavens, occurring about the time, had awed the minds of the people, and the clang as of arms at midnight, along the hillsides and in the valleys prepared them for some wonderful future. However we may look upon these things as puerile, in those days they had their effect; and, if ever such portents were sent to prepare men for coming events, then was an appropriate time. No record was given of the battles fought and won by Gustavus through the brief time which elapsed till Austria was humbled, and Germany delivered. the lecturer remarking that his taste did not lead him to describe battles—he left that to Mr. Headley. When Gustavus landed in Pomerania, Wallenstein, Ferdinand's ablest general, was in disfavor. His removal being loudly called for by the allies of Austria, on account of his boundless atrocities, he was compelled to retire to his vast estates, where he waited his time, living in all the splendor of an Oriental monarch. Though at the head of 100,000 men, devoted to his will, he yielded and retired.

The lecturer described briefly the horrid sack of Magdeburg by the Austrian forces, in which no less than 40,000 people, without distinction of age or sex, were butchered in cold blood. Yet the career of Gustavus was one of victory, and in the space of two years he had delivered Germany, and swept on toward Lutzen—there to meet Wallenstein the archenemy of German Liberty, upon whom Ferdinand had called in his extremity—and there to offer up his life for the cause to which he had consecrated it. On the 6th November, 1631, the two armies were arrayed. Gustavus fell, saying with his last breath—"I seal with my heart's blood, the liberty of the German nations forever."

Schiller advanced the idea that it was well that Gustavus should have died thus, so as to be spared the temptations incident to his glorious position; but the lecturer had a more abiding faith in the virtue of the character of his hero—he believed that he would have stood the test. It was not so to be, however. It was reserved for our own Washington to stand that test, to triumph in such a trial of his virtue.

The battle of Lutzen decided the great question, although the war continued for 16 years longer, until it was closed by the treaty of Westphalia, which has given the tone and form to European governments ever since. Germany, meantime, was devastated—12,000,000 of her people perished from the earth—districts formerly smiling with cultivation were laid waste, and tall forests grew up over the sites of towns. The distress and ruin was such as to lead many to exclaim—"There can be no God, or he would put an end to such horrors."

The reflections of the lecturer upon closing were impressive. He held that the lesson taught was that, with all the melancholy events following in the train of war, blessings followed; and that we are taught the value which Providence attaches to the maintenance of principles, of right and truth, in comparison with the lives of men. God worked out his own designs, when the magnificent Roman Empire gave way for another race—when 5,000,000 crusaders were swept from the earth in a few years—when England was a scene of bloodshed for many years—and when through the scenes alluded to in this lecture, the German nations won the right of worshipping God according to individual views of duty. In this strain of remark the lecture closed. It was listened to intently throughout, and we have heard but one opinion expressed regarding it—that of unqualified admiration.

The last lecture will be given to-night.

The Ghost of Banquo.

"Shake not thy gory locks at me."
Thou can'st not say I did it."

The famous Cleveland speech of Gen Cass in 1843 and his equally famous letter of apology to the Chicago River and Harbor Convention, pleading "circumstances" as an excuse for absenting himself from that great Western gathering, seem to rise up in judgment against him on all occasions and like Banquo's ghost will not down at his bidding. During the debate about the Collins Steamers in the U. S. Senate, the General was sorely disturbed by a "favorable allusion" from Senator WADE, of Ohio, to the "noise and confusion" at Cleveland in 1843. A passage-at-arms between the two Senators followed, which is thus reported in the New York Courier of the 11th instant:

Senator WADE (speaking on the Collins Steamers.)

Some years ago, Congress undertook to do much for the improvement of the commerce of the West. Engineers were engaged, and most extensive machinery purchased, &c. But in a year or two the work was stopped, and the machinery sold off, and since that day nothing whatever has been heard in that quarter of Uncle Sam. The people of the West have been anxiously looking for him from that time to the present. It was this anxiety, probably, which induced the questions that were put to the Senator from Michigan a few years ago, and which, owing to the noise and confusion, he could not answer (laughter.)

Mr Cass—Whenever these words, "noise and confusion," are used, I have the prescriptive right to the floor (laughter.) Has the Senator never read a letter from Gov. Wood, of his own State, denying the whole story?

Mr. Wade—Yes, I have. I did not say whether there was anything in it or not. I merely said that there existed a great anxiety out there to know what had become of Uncle Sam, and probably those questions were put to the Senator, under the supposition that he knew as much about his whereabouts as any one else. The Senator is now for voting to support this line, a sum of money amounting, during the time of that contract, to little less than $7,000,000.

Mr. Cass—I am for no such thing.

Mr. Wade reminded the Senator that there was a return in the shape of a postage for the money paid this line.

Mr. WADE said that however that may be, there is no noise and confusion in the Senate now, and he desired to know whether the Hon. Senator from Michigan, would vote a like amount of money for the improvement of the Rivers and Harbors of the West—and whether the West could depend upon his vote at this Session for such a Bill.

Mr. CASS said that his views upon this subject had been fully made known at the last session of Congress. He should vote for a Bill upon this subject of internal improvements,—a reasonable bill, the items of which have been examined and reported from the War Department, and which does not push the expenditures too far or unreasonably.—He was not for establishing a great system of internal improvements, but there are Rivers and Harbors for the improvement of which he would vote.

Mr. WADE was glad to hear the Hon. Senator's declaration. He wished to know why no Bill for that purpose had been introduced or heard of during the six months of this Session already gone by.

General Scott.

Extract from the speech of the Hon. Hiram Bell, of Ohio, in the House of Representatives of the United States:

I would suggest to my friends on the other side of the House, that if they have not the right kind of materials out of which to manufacture a President, suppose they take some of our men. The present incumbent of that office is a well-tried statesman, of enlarged views and great experience in the councils of the nation, and his native State, and of undoubted patriotism and devotion to the interests of the whole country. Then there is "Black Dan," who astonished the Austrian Emperor with his vast and comprehensive knowledge of that country and its dependencies—who has made kings tremble upon their thrones, by the force of his logic in enforcing the rights of mankind—who possesses a most thorough knowledge of our Government and its institutions, and who has long enjoyed the proud position of being the greatest expounder of the American Constitution, as well as the greatest diplomatist of the age.

If these men will not do, there is another distinguished man, whose whole life has been spent in the service of his country, and who has done some service on the side of freedom. From A. D. 1807 until the present time—a period of nearly half a century—his mind, energies and skill, have been devoted to his country's service. In 1812 he is seen on Queenstown Heights. The next year he captures Fort George; and the following year is found at the Niagara, rallying his forces against a superior number of the enemy, when he is wounded. In 1832 he is found in the Northwest, on our frontier, quelling Indian hostilities, and putting an end to the Black Hawk war. In 1836 he is found in the glades of Florida, protecting our Southern frontier. In 1838 he accompanies the Cherokees to their new western homes. In 1847 a new era dawns upon our hero. The proper authorities of our country demand his services in a war with a neighboring Republic.—Scott and his gallant band are in a short time in view of Vera Cruz, and here is the renowned castle of San Juan de Ulloa. Fifteen days from the day of investment, the heretofore impregnable castle is surrendered, and the stars and stripes of our glorious Republic are seen waving from its battlements in the land of the Aztecs. You next hear of his rearing the flag of his country in triumph in the city of Mexico.

But, sir, it is not only upon the battle field that the deeds of this man are the pride of his country. When a youth, a prisoner of war in an enemy's vessel, you see him taking the first bold and effectual stand to secure to naturalized citizens equal rights with native born, as prisoners of war.—Among the sick and dying of that dreadful scourge—the cholera—at Chicago, he doffs his epaulets, and practices the good Samaritan, by relieving and administering to the distressed. When your peace was threatened upon our Northern and Eastern boundary, he acts the part of the great pacificator; and in whatever situation he has been placed, he has proved himself to be possessed of the highest qualifications, civil and military.

These are some of the incidents, Mr. Chairman, in the life of Winfield Scott.

A generous and high-toned political opponent a native of the Emerald Isle, but now an adopted countryman, has said of Gen. Scott, that—

"One accustomed to clothe the dry bones of history with their appropriate details, will see that the military career of this great man divides itself into his campaigns against the British in Canada, against the Indians and against Mexico. How wide is the field in which his laurels have been gathered! The earliest of them sprung up in the cold and hardy North, watered by the mists of Niagara; others were plucked by the then fordless, bridgeless, and boatless rivers of the Southwest, and the last, in order of time, were plucked upon the high plateau of Mexico, in the track of Cortez, but with more humane hands!"

Now, sir, as either of these statesmen will suit the whigs, and as compromise is the popular theory of the day, allow me, Mr. Chairman, to suggest the propriety of accepting one of the three eminent personages I have just named for our next President. But if that is not acceded to, Mr. Chairman, I hope you will not be surprised if the people should attempt to take their business themselves, and give the old soldier a free ticket to take possession of the Presidential mansion on the 4th of March, 1853.

THE SEASON.—Summer is fairly opened, and Nature is putting on her emerald robe. Notwithstanding the severe winter and backward spring, vegetation seems determined to make up for lost time, and appears to sustain its usual early character excepting in pasturage. On the banks of Rock River we are several days ahead of the lake towns, although artificial means may enable them to secure an early supply of vegetable delicacies, in the open air we can surpass them.—Strawberries, plums, &c. are in full bloom, rhubarb or pie plant, has been used some time, raised without artificial means. This difference in the period of vegetation, can be turned to advantage by our citizens, in supplying Milwaukee markets with early fruits. The building of a railroad to this point, will be the means of opening a new branch of business to the landholders in our vicinity.—Watertown Register.

Proceedings of Common Council.

SPECIAL MEETING.

Reported for the Daily Sentinel.

MILWAUKEE, Tuesday, May 18—7 P. M.

Present.—His Honor the Mayor. Ald. Prentiss, Peck, Reed, Brown, Johnson.

Absent.—Ald. Foote, Huebschmann, Phelps, Neustadtl, Hickey, West, Fischbach, Martin, Dousman, Roesbeck.

No quorum.

The Mayor was authorized to call a special meeting of the Board at 2 P. M., of Thursday 20th Adjourned to that time.

MR. LORD'S LECTURE.—The subject of Mr. Lord's Lecture this evening will be, "ARCHBISHOP CRANMER, and the ENGLISH CHURCH."

It is a fruitful theme, and the reputation of the lecturer is a guarantee that it will be handled in a masterly manner.

We entreat our citizens to go early, not only for their own sake, so as to secure good seats, but so as to save the constant annoyance to others, of disturbing those who are present by dropping in for a half hour after the opening.

M. & M. RAILROAD.—The spring business, now that merchandize has arrived in large quantities from the East, is very fair, and the receipts for May will show well. When the mills get at work again, which cannot be more than a week forward, produce will doubtless come in in large quantities. Up to the 15th of this month some 14,000 bus. wheat and 3500 bbls flour had come in by railroad. Scarcely any wheat, however, has come in by that route since the 1st of April.

The travel is increasing steadily, and now cars are needed. We understand that the Company has engaged two 1st class passenger cars at the East, to be on the road before long. The freight train yesterday afternoon took out a supply of carts for the contractors at the other end of the line, as well as a large amount of freight for Waukesha and beyond.

COME AT LAST.—After numerous and most vexatious delays, resulting from the freezing up of Dankirk Harbor, and subsequent irregularities, Messrs. BOYD & LEDYARD have at length received their Spring supplies, and they ask attention to them in our paper to-day.

MESSRS. B. & L. are one of the best established and most popular firms in our city, always keep a good stock, always well selected. Under all the circumstances, we do not see that the ladies can do less than to give them an opportunity to show their goods at once.

A GREAT CHANCE FOR CAPITALISTS.—We invite attention to the notice in our advertising columns from Mr. JAMES RICHARDSON, General Land Agent at Madison. The opportunity thus offered to Capitalists to make money is a very inviting one. Madison, the beautiful Capital of our State, is growing rapidly and prosperously and we do not at all doubt that money invested there will yield twenty, fifty, or even one hundred per cent. Another year will see our Rail Road in full operation to that town, and lots and lands doubled in value by that one cause alone.

CIRCUIT COURT YESTERDAY.—U. H. Parsons vs. J. K. Sprague. Action for debt. Judgment for pl'ff for $308,72.

Watkins for pl'ff. J. G. Townsend for def't.

Daniel Newhall vs. James K. Sprague. Action on note. Judgment for pl'ff, $560,47.

Watkins for pl'ff. Townsend for def't.

Theodore Perry, vs. Cicero Comstock, et. al. — Argument of traverse; not yet decided.

Benj. Mace vs. Egbert Moody.—Ordered by the Court that their cause be dismissed at plaintiffs costs. Brown & Ogden for def't.

INSURANCE.—In these days of broken and failing Insurance Companies, it is well that property holders should look sharply to the characters of the associations with whom they insure.

Mr. A. WHEELER, in the Phoenix Building, is Agent for the "Mercantile" and "Grocers" Companies, of New York City, and the old "Atlantic," of Brooklyn. His advertisement shows the names of the Directors, a sure evidence of the character of a company.

☞ The Schooner Sam Hole is again loading for Buffalo, with Oats and Pork, from THOMAS P. WILLIAMS. She will clear to-day, and Captain HUGHEY SHORES will "put her through" in Propeller time.

The Hole on her way up met the new Schooner Kirke White of this port, off Point Pelee in Lake Erie, making a straight wake for Buffalo.

MILWAUKEE AND MISSISSIPPI RAIL ROAD.—We understand that Mr. BRODHEAD, the newly-appointed Chief Engineer and Superintendent of the Milwaukee and Mississippi Rail Road, left here yesterday morning to traverse the whole line, as far as located, and to explore the route beyond to the banks of the Mississippi. We anticipate a very satisfactory report from him on his return.

CRICKET.—The regular meeting of the Cricket Club, for practice, takes place this afternoon on the grounds north of Spring street, just beyond the brow of the hill. Wickets will be pitched at 3 o'clock. As the weather promises fairly, we hope to see a full turn out, both of players and spectators.

THE MORNING NEWS.—The Commercial of yesterday says that the publication of this new daily paper is delayed by the non-receipt of the type ordered for it. But two or three days at farthest, however, will intervene before the appearance of the new paper.

THAT BRIDGE.—We noticed yesterday some workmen laying down plank on the Spring street bridge. So the Council mean to try and keep the breath of life in it a little longer.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS.—An adjourned meeting of the Board of School Commissioners will be held at the Office of the Secretary, Mr. HAVEN POWERS, this evening at 3 o'clock.

FOR BUFFALO.—The new and staunch steamer Iowa, Capt. C. H. LUDLOW, leaves our port for Buffalo this evening from KELLOGG, STRONG & Co's Middle Pier.

PIANOS TUNED.—The attention of the ladies is invited to Mr. Wamelink's card in our advertising columns.

What kind of Settlers we want.

We want to substitute for those who have recently gone to California, a class of farmers, mechanics and miners, who will improve all their time, and lay up their earnings, as they do in the older states. We want farmers who are intelligent, and who have system and economy in applying their labor; such as know how to adapt their crops to the market, and avoid the extreme of raising more of a product than is wanted—such as read agricultural works, and know how to adapt agriculture to our soil and climate. Stock, being now, as will be the case for some years, our greatest staple, we want men to engage in growing horses, cattle and sheep, who have been raised to the business and understand it.—We want farmers who are not eternally itching to move beyond civilization, so soon as common schools and old fashioned stability begining to shine around them. We want Men, who will fear God and read the news; rear up industrious families, and cultivate our beautiful prairies.

We want a class of mechanics who won't visit the h—ls, nor gamble, nor liquor, nor fool away their money for ball tickets and negro songs; such as can make a ten strike, and know how and have the will to set 'em up; such as understand the trick of turning one dollar into two—two into four, until their pockets, their boots are filled with—the root of all evil. We want mechanics and artisans who will stay in their shops, and always be ready to work for customers; this class never complain of hard times, and can always sell their wares. House-builders, stone-masons and coopers are in the best demand at present; every village in the country needs one or more of the above kinds of mechanics. Wagon makers and blacksmiths (who go ahead) are also needed. The per diem of mechanics is $1,50 to $2,00; first class workmen, however, can bring more.

Mechanics and all others coming into the country, must expect to remain some time before the public will extend to them that encouragement which they may deserve; time and industry alone can establish a man's reputation for honesty and responsibility. We have never known an honest industrious mechanic who was not overrun with work.—Grand Co. Herald.

Important advices from Mexico relative to the rejection of the Tehuantepec treaty are understood to have been received at Washington. President Arista has appealed from this ultimatum to President Fillmore, representing the impossibility of acceding to the Garey grant, even under the treat of war—but the same time urged the readiness of Mexico to grant the right of way, upon fair and liberal terms. The Garay grant will doubtless be rejected.

I will be constantly in receipt of new Goods during the season, and will spare no effort to secure to my customers the very lowest market prices.

I guarantee that my prices will be as low, or a trifle lower, in all cases than the same quality of Goods can be bought at any other establishment in the city, as my facilities for the purchase of Goods are unsurpassed, and my expenses are small as my store, which for commodiousness, convenience and traffic chance in the business, by centralizing those impurities of the blood which are the seeds of almost incurable disease in man.

THE GRAEFENBERG DYSENTERY SYRUP.—Public approbation has awarded upon it the character of perfect. It has checked the ravages of Cholera in its last stages, and for bowel complaints it has no equals.

THE GRAEFENBERG PILLS, are particularly valuable for the prevention and cure of Fevers in general. They act gently, naturally and surely and in connection with our Health Butters, are a certain and speedy cure for the Liver Complaint. The Bitters have a wonderful effect in invigorating a debilitated system.

THE GRAEFENBERG GREEN MT. OINTMENT.—In reducing inflamation, healing burns, bruises, and all injuries to the body, we can confidently recommend this salve to all as being most efficacious. In the Mineral Region of our State its merits are universally appreciated.

THE GRAEFENBERG EYE LOTION—An unpretending article, but one which meets with large sales in the West, and has been the humble means of relieving thousands from intolable pain arising from injured or diseased eyes. Try it.

THE GRAEFENBERG UTERINE CATHOLICON—It is perhaps the most valuable medicine of the Company, inasmuch as it reaches cases despised of by the most scientific physicians. For Prolapsus Uteri, and all complaints incident to females, it will be found a safe and speedy remedy. Let no afflicted woman be deterred by delicacy or prejudice from giving it a fair trial. In quire of the agent for the pamphlet in relation to it.

THE GRAEFENBERG PILE OINTMENT, CHILD'S PANACEA, are also valuable remedies, directions for which and all the medicines are attached to each.

NOTICE.

Boston, July 1, 1851.

JAMES C. MERRILL, Jr., ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW, has this day, admitted me to partnership. Mr. Gustav von Deutsch, recently a member of the legal profession in Germany.

Boston, April 30th, 1852.

THE undersigned hereby respectfully give notice that Mr. Von Deutsch has just returned from Germany, where he has been for the last seven months for the express purpose of obtaining correspondents and forming business connections with the principal members of the legal profession throughout that country.

The advantages acquired by an extensive correspondence and by familiarity with the principles and practice of the law in both countries, furnish us with peculiar facilities for attending to all kinds of law business between this country and Germany, especially to the settlement of estates and the prosecution and collection of claims. Parties in either country may rest assured that ONE of my machines will plane, or plane, tongue and groove with less power, so much lumber in the same time, and do it as well or better than TWO of the "Woodworth" machines. The trial to be made at my Steam Mill, Border st., East Boston, Mass., or at such other place as may be convenient for such a trial.

THE WORLD'S FAIR
PREMIUM SAFES.
DEPOT,
Green Block, Water St.,
(Between Maiden Lane and Wall Street,)
NEW YORK.

THE SUBSCRIBER PLACED HIS FIRE AND BURGLAR-Proof Iron Safe in competition with those which received the great Exhibition Medal, for which an unprecedented premium was awarded.

The American hall, held last fall at Castle Garden, also awarded to him a gold medal for the best Fire-Proof Safe, and he has never failed to obtain the highest premium when his safe has been put in competition with others of that purpose. Certificates have been received from the following well-known mercantile houses, who have had their books, papers and money preserved in these superior safes within the last thirty days, through fires in which the safes were in a heated state:—Messrs. Mosier, Stillwell & Montrose, and Mr. J. L. Watkins, in the Fulton Street fire; Messrs. Fisher & Robinson, and Messrs. John Lockwood & Co., in the great fire corner of Fulton and Nassau Streets, and Messrs. Proud & Bowman, in Jersey City.

I am the proprietor of HALL'S PATENT LOCK, which obtained a medal (the second) at Johns & Co.'s Bazaar, at the World's Exhibition, and is considered the best Lock for the price, ever invented, being proof against powder, and the key is no larger than a cent, and can be made "bangeable."

I invite all purchasers to a close and careful investigation before purchasing, and decide for themselves, who makes the best Fire, Burglar and Damp-Proof Safes combined.

SALAMANDER SAFES.
WILDER'S PATENT AND RICH'S PATENT COMBINED.

$100,000 SAVED.

FIRE in Pearl Street and Fletcher Street, New York.—Three Stores and their contents destroyed. Deeds before words!

RICH'S SAFES AGAIN!

ELEVEN SAFES of different makers consumed, with their contents! The Safe made by Rich & Co. decked the flames and brought out its contents without a mark of fire upon them!

MR. GILBERT'S LETTER.

THE FIRE IN FLETCHER AND PEARL-STS., NEW YORK.

New York, Dec. 20, 1851.

MESSRS. STEARNS AND MARVIN, successors, to C. Rich & Co., No. 145, Water Street, New York.—Sirs, when the fire was consuming my place of business, No. 216, Pearl-street, I was absent in Rensselaer County, testing a new cleaning apparatus in connection with my Excelsior Threshers, and did not read the account until I was fearful it was too late to save my books in which were placed in one of your safes, purchased from Mr. Marvin some years ago. My fears were not allayed when I found it necessary upon my return to apply the Croton Water 48 hours before I was enabled to commence operations; after which it required 24 hours of labor and application to raise the Salamander from its ashy bed. You may judge of my surprise upon opening the safe in the presence of a number of gentlemen, to find my books and papers saved, and as for the loss of valuable premises in the fire. The interior in which the Safe was subjected, can be conjectured from the condition of another safe, (not a Salamander) of which an iron skeleton frame only remained, and not a vestige of a book. Their contents, comparisons in the same office, on the second floor, from which they fell upon crates of earthen ware in the cellar, the ruined safe upon the Salamander, and their position has been reversed, not even the ashes would have remained. My loss over the insurance is $1,900, yet the salvation of my books in your Safe assures me with the representation of Mr. Stephen, and important documents which could not be duplicated, has fully compensated me.

It will afford me great pleasure to exhibit the new safe purchased of you, and explain its merits, at my present office, No. 231 Pearl street, where I shall remain until the new building, No. 216, is erected.

Yours, respectfully, JOSEPH G GILBERT.

The undersigned invite country merchants and those interested in the preservation of their books from fire, (but particularly the parties in Fletcher and Pearl-sts.) to call at the depot 145 Water street, New York, to see the inferior of Mr. Gilbert's safe with the books undisturbed, which he has kindly permitted to remain for the satisfaction and gratification of the public.

MISCELLANEOUS.

IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC!

THE following advertisement was published in May, 1, 1849, in the "Boston Daily Times," and various other newspapers in the United States, by James G. Wilson, Esq., the owner of the "Woodworth Patent," shortly after I had advertised my "PATENT STATIONARY CUTTER, PLANING, TONGUEING, AND GROOVING MACHINE," throughout the United States:

"PLANING MACHINES.

"I take this method of answering the frequent inquiries, by letter and otherwise, as to my opinion upon the various notices through the papers, or the stationary Knife Planing Machines attempted to be palmed off upon several persons ignorant of their true worth. I would state for the information of the enquirers that they will find substantially the machine now offered by several pretending inventors, described as the 16th volume of the Repertory of Arts, invented by Samuel Bentham, in the year 1791. A like machine was patented in this country by one Kugler, some sixteen years since, and another one put up in Albert Richards, of West Troy, N. Y., and abandoned about the same time. It ought to satisfy the public to know that after fifty eight years experimenting upon these machines, not one in use is of any value for the purposes contemplated.

I will furnish a Stationary Knife Machine equal to any now in use, or to any offered by the pretending inventors, at the cost of the machine and five per cent for my trouble.

JAMES G. WILSON,
Philadelphia."

I deny that any person ever saw or heard of such a machine as mine until I invented the same. Said machine was operated in the month of August, 1848, and no machine before that time to compare with, and do it as well as mine. In reply to the above advertisement, and in order that the public may be assured that I mean what I say, I will offer to pledge ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS against an equal amount from said Wilson, that ONE of my machines will plane, or plane, tongue and groove with less power, as much lumber in the same time, and do it as well, or better than TWO of the "Woodworth" machines. The trial to be made at my Steam Mill, Border st., East Boston, Mass., or at such other place as may be convenient for such a trial.

C. GRÆSSLE'S
PRESSED, FIRE-PROOF TILING.

CERTIFICATES OF RECOMMENDATION.

BY the present, I attest my entire satisfaction with the roof of my house, covered with the pressed, fire-proof Tile, invented by Mr. Græssle; having found them perfectly secure during snow-storms, rains, wind and intense cold. I thereby take occasion to recommend said roof covering to every house-builder, inviting them to satisfy themselves by ocular inspection of the superior quality of the same.

ENNO MEYER,
Druggist, 374 W. Water-st., 2nd ward.

Milwaukee, Feb. 3, 1852.

The above I found true in every respect, as to the roof of my house, covered with the same tile, invented by Mr. Græssle.

Brewer, Cheesmanst., 2nd ward.

The undersigned, having carefully examined the pressed roofing Tiles, invented by Mr. Græssle, have found them perfectly answering the purpose intended. Their practical and tasteful construction recommend it this kind of roofing, and I take pleasure to liberally recommend the same to our citizens generally, but above all for its durability. The ridges and channels not only exclude the entering of snow or rain-water, but, by the firm and close joining of the tiles, one with the other, they give to the single Tile as well as to the whole covering an absolutely immovable position and an intimate connection. Besides this, Mr. Græssle's method of burning the tiles, by the destruction of the injurious tendency to absorb water, making them in this way durable; and joining to the above another virtue, viz. that of dispensing with repairs. The undersigned therefore considers it his duty, justified in recommending to the building community the above roofing. The same excellent and valuable material.

OTTO SCHWARTZ, Architect.
VICTOR SCHULTZ, } Builders.

Milwaukee, Feb. 5, 1852.

To G. Græssle:—I have examined the Roofing Tile made by you, and have no hesitation in recommending them to general use, and particularly as a fire-proof roof.
